STATEMENT BY FIRM	Kleinfelder is an employee-owned science, design, and engineering consulting firm providing solutions to meet our world's complex infrastructure and natural resource challenges. Working as a team, our bright people will deliver the right solutions. Since its founding in 1961, Kleinfelder has grown and developed steadily to become one of the largest 100% employee-owned engineering companies. Our reputation as an innovative industry leader is based on the high-quality work we have performed on literally thousands of environmental planning, engineering, scientific, technical, and construction management projects involving numerous varied and complex services. We have the expertise, breadth of experience, and global capabilities to serve the water, energy, transportation, architectural and targeted segments of the major retail and commercial, industrial, governmental, and institutional markets with unrivaled service. Our ability to provide the right solutions to clients across disciplines has earned us recognition and awards from high-profile industry partners, government agencies, and national and international associations. In 2015, Engineering News-Record (ENR) magazine ranked Kleinfelder No. 43 on its "Top 500 Design Firms" list. We know our success is a reflection of our commitment to our core values and we work diligently to uphold high standards of practice. We employ comprehensive in-house systems in safety, quality control and assurance, and continuing employee education and development. As a result, we attract and retain employees who strive to better this world and leave a legacy of excellence; they are renowned for their high-caliber capabilities and Kleinfelder works relentlessly to cultivate an environment where their full potential is unleashed—to our clients' benefit. With a thorough understanding of the local natural environment, as well as regulatory, economic, and civic conditions, we can help our clients realize their full potential and their goals. We operate from more than 60 offices and are fully staffed with experts from multiple disciplines; this allows us to provide the added benefit of local experience which results in cost-effective and timely service. Kleinfelder's deep resources, extensive services, unsurpassed expertise, and half-century of experience make us a trusted partner exceptionally suited to serve your project needs.
